Young Adults And Their Credit
Young people of today, with their exposure in school to the knowledge explosion, are considered to be smarter than those of preceding generations at corresponding ages. There are also indications that older teenagers are ready for adult responsibility earlier than their parents.

Despite accelerated opportunities for learning and signs of earlier maturity, young people need and want help with their personal finances.

The widespread use of credit cards by teen-agers has brought about studies of consumer credit among college and older high school students. An Economic Intelligence Quotient Test, developed at Georgia State College, measures how adequately prepared high school seniors are to live in our economic society.

A surprising finding, through the testing of 21,000 students, is the statistic that two-thirds were unable to work simple problems involving carrying charges department stores levy on installment credit accounts. Only 10 per cent were able to determine the least expensive repayment schedule for a short-term account.

Remedies are on their way. High school home economics programs, for example, have recently included classes for both boys and girls in consumer education and credit is covered extensively in such courses.

Today's youths have seen the problems that plagued their parents through the overuse or unwise use of consumer credit. With the new emphasis on education in financial matters, teen-agers have the opportunity to write a more impressive financial and credit record than their parents.

Mild, Humid for State Friday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Turbulent weather continued to plague parts of Arkansas today with funnel clouds being reported in Washington County, Mount Ida and east of Danville (Yell County).

The National Weather Service placed Yell, Pope and Conway counties under a tornado warning until 11:30 a.m. today.

A tornado warning was in effect until 10 a.m. today for Sebastian and Crawford counties. A funnel cloud was sighted by Spiro, Okla., police about 12 miles from Fort Smith. The cloud was moving toward the northeast.

The National Weather Service in Little Rock said a tornado-type echo was indicated by radar north of Fort Smith about 9:30 a.m.

No damage was reported by the storms.

Meanwhile, mild, humid weather is expected to continue over Arkansas through Friday.

The forecast also calls for a chance of scattered showers and thundershowers through Friday. Much of the state was placed under a tornado watch Wednesday and the National Weather Service at Little Rock said at least two tornadoes touched down in the northeast portion of the state. No injuries were reported.

Foreman Spreads Red Carpet for Its New and Only Doctor

By JIM MCCALL

Associated Press Writer

FOREMAN, Ark. (AP)—For the past three years, the 1,000 residents of this small Southwest Arkansas town in Little River County have had to travel as far as 30 miles to get medical attention.

Beginning soon, however, the people of Foreman will not have to depend on doctors in DeQueen, Texarkana and Ashdown as they have in the past.

The townspeople of Foreman are getting the red carpet ready for Dr. Teodoro R. Matong Jr. who was to arrive here late today or Friday.

Mayor Joe Dowling said the town has been trying to get a doctor to locate in the town for three years. The last doctor to practice in Foreman was Dr. W. H. Daubbs. He retired and moved to Arizona.

Matong is a graduate of the Philippines Medical School and will be the first foreign doctor to engage in private practice in Arkansas.

Dowling said arrangements were made for Matong to come to Foreman after Matong answered an advertisement Dowling had placed in an armed services publication.

Matong was the only one who answered the advertisement, Dowling said.

Legislation was passed in the last legislative session authorizing the state Medical Board to issue a temporary permit to practice medicine to any medical doctor licensed and qualified to practice in the Philippines under certain conditions.

Matong has been practicing in the office of an American doctor in San Pedro, Calif. Accompanying him to Arkansas will be his wife, Panerasia, who is a registered nurse, and their 3-year-old son.

Dowling said he hoped the permit could be obtained so that Matong could begin practicing next week. Under the recently passed legislation, the secretary of the state Medical Board may issue the temporary permit without the consent of the entire board.

Dr. Joe Verser of Harrisburg, secretary of the board, said, however, that he probably would not issue a permit for Matong until he gets the approval of the board.

"I know nothing about his background or credentials," Verser said. "I would be reluctant to take it upon myself to issue a permit under those circumstances without getting approval of the other board members."

The next board meeting is not until June 14.

Dowling said the townspeople were remodeling a building downtown to house a temporary clinic.

He said that plans had been completed for a $100,000 clinic and plans were being made to finance construction. Dowling said the city hopes to obtain a Small Business Administration Loan to finance construction of the proposed clinic.

Dowling also said that a drive is underway to raise $10,000 for equipment. About $1,700 already has been raised.

Still Seized; Murder Count on W. Jones

Sheriff Henry Sinyard reported to The Star today that a 3,600-gallon-mash-capacity still was confiscated and destroyed about six miles below Spring Hill early this morning (Thursday).

Forty-nine gallons of finished moonshine were also destroyed. Removal of the balance of the equipment and further investigation continue.

Sheriff Sinyard also stated that 1st degree murder charges have been filed against William Jones in the shotgun slaying of his wife, Lela Mae, on April 30, at their home on Oak Street.

New Fighting Flares in Cambodia

SAIGON (AP)—South Vietnamese ground forces and Vietnamese and American aircraft battered North Vietnamese troops today and Wednesday in a new outbreak of fighting in eastern Cambodia.

The allied commands claimed 127 enemy troops killed at three points in the Cambodian fighting, at least half of them by air strikes.

One South Vietnamese was killed and six were wounded, said a spokesman, Lt. Col. Do Viet.

Meanwhile, the allies announced a 24-hour cease-fire in South Vietnam for the anniversary Sunday of Buddha's birth. The stand-down will begin at noon Saturday. There has been no companion announcement from the Viet Cong, which last year ignored the allied cease-fire for Buddha's birthday and made a series of attacks.

The U.S. Command announced 38 American servicemen were killed in action last week, another 21 previously listed as missing were changed to the dead classification, and nine other men died of combat wounds. This gave a total on the weekly casualty summary of 68, the highest toll in five weeks.

The 21 missing included 13 airmen shot down over Laos.

The command also reported 592 wounded last week, the largest weekly total since last October, and said another 20 Americans died of nonhostile causes.

In the fighting in Cambodia, Saigon headquarters said South Vietnamese F5 fighters attacked a concentration of North Vietnamese troops for four hours Wednesday afternoon near the town of Kandol Chrum, 100 miles northwest of Saigon.

Fifty miles to the northeast near the Cambodian town of Snoul, South Vietnamese tanks, armored personnel carriers and infantrymen clashed with an estimated 400 North Vietnamese. U.S. and South Vietnamese fighter-bombers and American helicopter gunships joined the action. Viet said initial reports indicated 72 North Vietnamese killed, while South Vietnamese losses were one killed and six wounded.

River Project Completion Set June 5

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—More than 50 Arkansas boats are scheduled to participate in ceremonies at Tulsa, Okla., June 5 marking the completion of the Arkansas River navigation project.

Charles Meyer Jr. of Little Rock, commodore of the Arkansas group, said the flotilla will depart Little Rock June 1 and stop that night at Dardanelle.

On June 2, the boats are to travel from Dardanelle to Fort Smith and the following day go from Fort Smith to Muskogee, Okla. The boats are scheduled to depart Muskogee June 4 and arrive in Tulsa that afternoon.

Meyer said Monday is the deadline for registering to participate.

Just Missed Being a Prison With Cells for Fat Men Only

By BILL SIMMONS

Associated Press Writer

CUMMINS PRISON FARM, Ark. (AP)—The maximum security unit under construction here was headed at one point toward being effective only for fat prisoners.

The $550,000 building, scheduled to be opened in about a month, has been hailed as the facility needed to provide maximum confinement for unruly inmates and prisoners who need maximum protection.

Several months ago, however, prison officials discovered what one, with intentional understatement, called, "A slight oversight."

The oversight: The cells contained holes large enough for a skinny prisoner to crawl through.

Supt. Bill Steed, acting correction commissioner, confirmed the flaw, which he said was being corrected at no additional expense to the state.

Mrs. Cynthia Houchin, administrative assistant in the Department of Correction offices at Little Rock, said she witnessed — and helped verify — the discovery of the error.

The unit is designed to contain about 80 prisoners, although up to 100 could be accommodated through a doubling of the number of inmates in certain cells.

The cells do not contain the usual barred windows, but instead, have one wall which has an unglazed window area laced with concrete-filled steel tubing.

"I had heard that some people were concerned about the size of the space between the tubes in the window areas," Mrs. Houchin said. "So one day I went down there and took a look."

"I found one of our security personnel, the skinniest one I could find, and I told him to see if he could get through the space," she said. "When he got through to his waist, I told him he could quit. I was convinced."

"It sounds hilarious—to have a maximum security unit with cells prisoners could crawl out of," Mrs. Houchin said. "Actually, only skinny prisoners would be able to get through the spaces."

Mrs. Houchin said she was not sure what firm was responsible for the oversight, but that the spaces were being narrowed, at no cost to the state.

The spaces are being narrowed by a subcontractor by welding angle iron into the spaces.

She said the mistake was discovered six to eight months ago.

Dollar Takes Jump, Crisis Persists

By LOUIS NEVIN

Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP)—The U.S. dollar rebounded on European exchanges today, but the respite seemed temporary as the international monetary crisis continued.

American money was in short supply as speculators rushed to cover the dollars they had been selling for over a week without owning them.

The British pound was caught in the rush. A wave of selling sent the rate for sterling down 41 points, to $2.4155 during the first tour of trading in London.

Major dollar trading remained all but suspended in West Germany, Austria, Belgium, Finland, the Netherlands, Portugal and Switzerland as the national banks of those countries still refused to buy dollars.

Led by West Germany, the central banks stopped buying Wednesday after two days of hectic selling by speculators switching to West German marks in anticipation that the German currency would be revalued upward.

The dollar gained strength on the open market in West Germany today after rumors that the government would postpone its decision to revalue until after a meeting of Common Market finance and economic ministers Saturday.

Canadians Viewing TV as Disaster Hit

ST. JEAN VIANNEY, Que. (AP)—Many of St. Jean Vianney's 1,300 people were watching the Stanley Cup hockey finals on television when the ground began giving way, tumbling houses into a sea of mud.

Forty-two cottages crashed down into the crater that widened out late Tuesday night. Today five bodies had been recovered and no hope was held for 26 missing persons.

Francois Richard was watching the hockey game when he heard shouting and ran 700 yards down the street. He saw houses falling one by one, dropping "150 feet into nowhere."

"I just got the kids and wife out of the house in time," he said.

An entire street and part of another were pulled into the grayish mud pit 2,000 feet wide and more than 100 feet deep.

A government geologist, Jean-Yves Chagnon, said the cave-in may have been caused by erosion of sandy soil at the base of the bluff on which the town was built, or by an earth tremor Tuesday believed centered in the area 116 miles north of Quebec City. He said he didn't expect any more slides.

"But if it rains for two days, it could mean trouble," Chagnon said. He explained that a lot of rain could start sludge flowing down the new canyon and undercut the river banks elsewhere.

The small river which runs through the crater swept most of the houses down the valley to where it joins the Saguenay River. There rescue workers probed the debris with long metal poles in search of bodies.

Moncam Laforge, his pregnant wife and their three children were in one of the first houses to slide into the pit.

Their bungalow dropped more than 100 feet and landed on a floating mound of earth. The chunk split and Laforge's family sank into the mud as if in quicksand. He jumped off and fought his way to the edge of the crater.

"He used his brute strength by pulling on anything his hands could touch—roots, boards, anything," said his mother.

Laforge was hospitalized for shock and was not allowed visitors.

Screams from the pit helped guide rescue workers to other victims.

Harry Haines to State Ed. Board

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Harry A. Haines, editor-publisher of the Blytheville Courier News was appointed Wednesday by Gov. Dale Bumpers to the state Board of Education.

Haines will fill the vacancy created by the death of L. V. Otter Jr. of Marked Tree who was killed Friday night in an automobile accident.

Haines, 44, will serve the remainder of Otter's nine-year term, which expires in 1974.

State Pen Condition Bad Court Finds

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—The 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals at St. Louis has upheld the ruling by U.S. District Court Judge J. Smith Henley of Little Rock that conditions in the Arkansas prison system were unconstitutional.

The ruling by the appeals court upheld a Feb. 18, 1970, judgment by Henley that confinement of prisoners at the Cummins and Tucker units of the state prison system under conditions existing at that time constituted cruel and inhuman punishment prohibited by the 8th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and made applicable to the states by the 14th Amendment.

In affirming Henley's decision, the appeals court remanded the case to Henley for further proceedings.

In a concurring opinion, one of the appeals court justices said that "contemporary conditions in Arkansas do not vary greatly from those condemned in England in the 1970s."

"The present record reflects the prison system at Cummins Prison Farm to be not only shocking to standards of decency but immoral and criminal," the opinion said.

Copies of the ruling were received today by state officials.

Mike Wilson of the state attorney general's office said he did not know at this time whether an appeal of the decision would be carried further to the U.S. Supreme Court. Wilson said Atty. Gen. Ray H. Thornton Jr. had not had a chance yet to study the appeal court's ruling.

Henley's ruling was in connection with eight consolidated class actions brought by Lawrence J. Holt, a Little Rock lawyer, on behalf of inmates of Cummins and Tucker. Defendants included then Correction Commission C. Robert Sawyer and the Board of Correction.

Writing the appeals court decision, Judge Martin Van Oosterhout rejected the state's contention that the suit brought by Holt was in effect an action against the state and as such was barred by the 11th Amendment.

Sharp Rise in Costs for April
 By BILL NEIKIRK
 Associated Press Writer
 WASHINGTON (AP) — The rise in wholesale prices accelerated in April, handing the Nixon administration a setback in its effort to control inflation, the Labor Department reported today.

The department said its wholesale price index advanced by three-tenths of one per cent in April, with its key industrial commodities index going up by four-tenths of one per cent.

The increase was even larger on a seasonally adjusted basis, with the over-all index increasing by five-tenths of one per cent and industrial prices by the same amount.

The April increase followed a slackening in wholesale prices in March, when the index advanced by only two-tenths of one per cent on both an unadjusted and seasonally adjusted basis.

The department said farm products showed no change in April, while prices of processed foods and feeds actually declined by two-tenths of one per cent. But on a seasonally adjusted basis, prices of farm products increased by 1.4 per cent, with the cost of processed foods and feeds unchanged.

The department said the April advance brought the index to 113.3 per cent of the 1967 average, 3.1 per cent higher than the same month a year ago. This meant that it cost $113.30 to purchase the same amount of wholesale goods that $100 bought in 1967.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics blamed the increase in the industrial index on "renewed strength in prices of metals and metal products." Prices of these products had leveled off in recent months.

Michigan Gaming Raids Net 151

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 400 FBI agents and local police began today a Michigan roundup of 151 persons, including a Detroit police inspector and 15 other officers, on federal gambling charges returned by two federal grand juries.

Fifteen indictments, returned by grand juries sitting in Detroit and Grand Rapids, were announced by Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell in Washington.

Mitchell said federal authorities coordinating the arrest raids in 37 Michigan cities described the operation as "one of the largest in United States history in terms of the number of arrests."

Major cities in which authorities either made arrests or executed search warrants this morning were Detroit, Grand Rapids, Lansing, Flint, Saginaw, Battle Creek and Kalamazoo, the Justice Department said.

The police officers were charged in the indictments with obstructing law enforcement antgambling activities, carrying on an illegal gambling activity and conspiracy to violate federal gambling laws.

The indictments said the gambling operations outside of metropolitan Detroit consisted mainly of betting on numbers.

One indictment said there is a link between a gambling group in Detroit and similar groups or persons in Las Vegas, Chicago and Miami. The Justice Department said four of the indicted persons were being sought in those cities.

Housing Authority Report

The Housing Authority of the City of Hope takes this means to report to the citizenry the present status of the Urban Renewal Plan.

The plan is at the 101 step in processing. The 101 step is "Correction and Submission of the Part I."

This means we have corrected the plan as previously presented to the Area Office and we will resubmit the plan for further review on Wednesday, May 12th. The Area Office will review this submission and if there are no technicalities found in error they will approve the Part I shortly.

Upon receiving this approval the Housing Authority will proceed to complete the Part II. The Part II consists of seven steps and then will be submitted to the Area Office for review. If no technicalities are found in error then the Area Office can approve this final step. Then execution of the plan starts.

The Housing Authority expects all of this to take place between now and July 1st.

When the plan is approved it will take several months to make the necessary appraisals and make the acquisitions.

During recent surveys the Housing Authority has requested all owners and tenants whose property will be acquired to make no moves at this time because there is no established time table as to when the properties will be acquired or need to be vacated.

The Housing Authority wishes to state there is absolutely no basis at this time for any property owner or tenant to make a move due to the proposed Urban Renewal Plan. In fact, a move now would eliminate all relocation benefits.

The Housing Authority will work with all parties involved and will relocate them to their advantage and desires during the process of completing the Urban Renewal Plan.

Far East Feels Attack on Dollar

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
 LONDON (AP) — The flight from the dollar spread to the Far East today, but on a smaller scale. In Europe, financial leaders discussed ways to end the worst monetary crisis since 1969, and it was generally expected that the West German mark, the Swiss franc, the Dutch guilder and possibly other currencies would be revalued upward.

In Tokyo, the Bank of Japan bought more than $200 million this morning to maintain the official rate of 360 yen to the dollar. On the Hong Kong market, gold rose from $40.39 an ounce to $41.16, while the price of the U.S. dollar dropped from 6.0125 Hong Kong dollars to 6.00.

The selling volume in Tokyo was far less than the $2 million West Germany's Central Bank bought up Wednesday before it stopped buying. Soon afterward the central banks of Austria, Belgium, the Netherlands, Switzerland, Portugal and Finland also quite buying.

It was not known whether the selling in Tokyo was due to Japanese hedging against possible revaluation of the yen or whether the Tokyo market was being invaded by the European speculators who since Tuesday have been exchanging their dollars for West German marks in anticipation of a revaluation of the mark.

Finance Minister Takeo Fukuda announced there would be no change in Japan's monetary policy, and Tdashi Sasaki, governor of the Bank of Japan, declared the prevailing yen-dollar parity would be maintained. Officials of the Finance Ministry said Japan's rigid exchange controls could effectively check the inflow of speculative short-term money any time the government decided to use them.

However, monetary experts in Tokyo said the government may have to revalue the yen if the Bonn government decides to increase the value of the deutschemark.

No change in the value of the mark was expected today. A meeting of the West German Cabinet is scheduled Friday, and Economics Minister Karl Schiller said he expected a decision then on ways to stop the vast flow of dollars into the German market.

Officials of the German Central Bank anticipated one of three actions: freeing of the mark to find its own level, probably at 4 to 5 per cent more than the present official 27.55 cents, then pegging it there; revaluation now, without going through the intermediate step, and introduction of foreign exchange restrictions.

The sources considered the last course least likely.

Economists in Washington agreed that a widespread upward revaluation of European currencies would weaken world confidence in the dollar. But they said it might strengthen America's foreign trade position since it would increase the comparative export price of good from the countries that revalue. It also would tend to reduce American imports from those countries.

Meanwhile, the chief topic of discussion in the emergency conferences being held on both sides of the Atlantic was how to check the speculative attack on the dollar and restore order to the European money market.

Brock Breaks Up Phils, and Cards Win

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Lanky Joe Hoerner sat in the corner waiting for the phone to ring.

Manager Frank Lucchesi dialed the hot line, fetching in Philadelphia's ace reliever ... but it turned out to be the wrong number.

Hoerner hooked up with a former teammate, Lou Brock, who promptly broke a 1-1 tie with a home run and St. Louis scored three more times in the eighth inning for a 5-1 triumph Wednesday night.

The Brock sendoff must have unsteadied Hoerner's composure. The star fireman, who had carried a 1.50 earned run average into the game, served up another gopher pitch to Maty Alou, then walked Louis Melendez before taking a shower.

In the other National League games, San Francisco turned back Pittsburgh 2-1; Chicago stopped New York 5-4; Montreal ripped Houston 5-1; Cincinnati banged Los Angeles 8-4, and San Diego and Atlanta split a doubleheader—the Padres winning the opener, 5-1 and the Braves the second game, 3-1.

In the American League, it was Kansas City 4, Cleveland 2; Minnesota 5, New York 3; Milwaukee 4, Washington 3 and Oakland 5, Detroit 0. Rain postponed California at Baltimore and Boston at Chicago.

The Phillies blew an opportunity to score the lead run in the seventh inning. Don Money doubled home Deron Johnson for the tying run, but Tim McCarver tripped while rounding third base and had to scramble back to the bag.

After McCarver's pratfall, Cardinal pitcher Reggie Cleveland walked Larry Hise intentionally to load the bases, then worked out of the jam by getting two outs.

Lucchesi also was dismayed about the team's 235 batting average, one of the reasons for its last-place posture in the East. Juan Marichal tossed a three-hitter and Ken Henderson knocked in both runs for San Francisco. After Bob Robertson gave the Pirates a 1-0 lead in the first with his fifth homer of the year, Henderson tied it with a fifth-inning single and drove in the winning run with a seventh-inning roller.

Ron Santo and Danny Bredan ripped two-run singles in the fifth inning and Chicago ace Ferguson Jenkins settled down after a rocky start to tame New York.

Jenkins struck out 12 and posted his fifth victory after New York reached him for three runs in the first inning. A leadoff single by Don Kessinger started Chicago's winning rally in the fifth. Santo's single tied the score at 3-3, then Bredan's hit knocked in the decisive runs.

Bill Stoneman pitched a six-hitter and Montreal raked three Houston pitchers for five runs in the first three innings. Ron Hunt sent Stoneman on the way to his third victory with a lead-off homer off Astros starter Wade Blasingame in the first inning.

Tony Perez drove in four runs with a three-run homer and a double as Cincinnati topped Los Angeles. Perez' homer snapped a 3-3 tie in the seventh and sent Dodger ace Bill Singer down to his sixth loss in eight decisions.

Ollie Brown and Nate Colbert delivered home runs and reliever Al Severinsen choked off a bases-loaded rally by Atlanta in the eighth to preserve San Diego's opening-game victory.

The Braves bounced back in the nightcap as Gil Garrido and pitcher Jim Nash broke a tie with run-scoring singles in the sixth inning.

placed on the 21-day disabled list.

Piniella has a fractured right thumb. He suffered the injury Tuesday night at Cleveland where he was hit by a pitch thrown by Steve Hargan of the Cleveland Indians.

Piniella is expected to be out of action from three to four weeks. Dr. Paul Meyer, the Royals' team physician, said.

PITCHING (3 Decisions)—

Brewers Beat McLain and Senators

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
Andy Kosco has embarrassed his boss, but there's a smile lurking behind the egg on Dave Bristol's face.

The Milwaukee manager argued loud and long in a vain attempt to keep Kosco from pinch-hitting for the Brewers in Wednesday night's game against Washington—and got himself thrown out of the game instead.

Then, Kosco, an orphan of the seventh-inning storm, poked a two-run single that gave the Brewers a 4-3 victory over Denny McLain and the reeling Senators.

Elsewhere in the American League, Vida Blue fired a four-hitter for his seventh victory of the young season as Oakland trimmed Detroit 5-0; Leo Cardenas drove in all the Minnesota runs in a 5-3 verdict over the New York Yankees and Amos Otis' two-run homer helped Kansas City top Cleveland 4-2.

Rain washed out the Boston-Chicago and California-Baltimore games.

In the National League, San Francisco nipped Pittsburgh 2-1; Cincinnati downed Los Angeles 8-4; the Chicago Cubs shaded the New York Mets 5-4; Montreal clipped Houston 5-1; St. Louis beat Philadelphia 5-1 and San Diego divided a doubleheader with Atlanta, winning 5-1 and then losing 3-1.

At Milwaukee, Johnny Briggs was due to bat for the Brewers with two out in the seventh, the bases loaded and Washington clinging to a 3-2 lead. When Kosco stepped into the on-deck circle instead, the Senators made a pitching change, replacing southpaw Joe Grzenda with right-hander Jerry Janski.

Bristol then sent Briggs, a left-handed hitter, to the plate, but was stopped short by the umpires. Kosco, they said, had been officially announced as the hitter and Briggs was out of the picture.

After a heated, 15-minute debate, during which Bristol announced he was completing the game under protest, Umpire Larry Napp gave him the thumb.

Moments later, Kosco grounded a single to left for the runs that handed the Senators their sixth straight setback.

Koscow's hit made the sputate academic while pinning the loss on McLain, 3-4, who was lifted in the seventh after he walked pinch-hitter Floyd Wicker and gave up a pinch single by Ted Savage. An intentional walk to pinch-hitter Roberto Pena filled the bases, setting the stage for Kosco's delayed heroics.

Blue, Oakland's 21-year-old southpaw flash, tamed the Tigers for his seventh successive complete game victory after a season-opening setback at Washington. He struck out 11, boosting his early-season total to 69—tops in the majors.

The A's' nicked Dean Chance, 0-5, for the only run they needed in the fourth and then pulled away in the fifth with four runs—the last two on a single by Joe Rudi.

Cardenas smacked his first homer of the season—a three-run shot off Stan Bahnsen in the second inning—and later punched a pair of run-scoring singles while uping his batting average from .227 to .250.

Jim Perry held off the Yankees until the eighth, when he got relief help from rookie Ray Corbin, and picked up his fifth victory in seven decisions.

Otis' fourth homer of the year keyed a four-run Kansas City salvo in the sixth. Reliever Tom Burgmeier sealed the victory.

Renko, Mtl., 3-0, 1.000, 2.13; Ryan, N.Y., 3-0, 1.000, 1.65; Blass, Pitt., 3-0, 1.000, 3.38; Gullett, Cin., 3-0, 1.000, 2.70; Dierker, Houst., 4-0, 1.000, 1.38; Mikkelsen, L.A., 3-0, 1.000, 1.84; J. Johnson, S.F., 3-0, 1.000, 0.47.

STRIKEOUTS—Seaver, N.Y., 53; Jenkins, Chic., 48; Perry, S.F., 37; Dierker, Houst., 32; Walker, Pitt., 32.

PITCHING—Vida Blue, A's, fired a four-hitter as Oakland trimmed the Detroit Tigers 5-0.

BATTING—Leo Cardenas, Twins, drove in all Minnesota's runs with a home run and two singles in a 5-3 triumph over the New York Yankees.

HANK AARON swings, the wrists snap and there goes another one. Then follows the home run trot that Aaron recently went into for the 600th time. He is third on the all-time homer list behind Babe Ruth and Willie Mays and hit his 600th 17 years after he connected for No. 1 off Vic Raschi of St. Louis. Ruth was 35 when he hit his 600th, while Aaron is 37.

Basketball Millions Good News to Dad: Son Gives Him Truck

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Otis Gilmore of Chipley, Fla., is driving the truck he always wanted. It's all the more welcome because it was a present from his son, Artis.

Artis is one of the new millionaires, a product of the war between the National Basketball Association and American Basketball Association.

Strictly speaking he doesn't have a million dollars. But the contract the All America giant

Willie Mays Turns 40 This Day

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Willie Howard May Jr., whose 633 home runs are second only to Babe Ruth in all baseball history, is 40 today, and that's reason for a party.

The National League schedule gave the San Francisco Giants today off to get ready for tonight's celebration in the penant-bedecked grand ballroom of the plush Fairmont Hotel on Nob Hill.

Mays, nursing a sore right shoulder, has been resting since Sunday's game, but is due to return to the playing field here Friday night against Atlanta.

Oilers' New Manager Was 1st Employee

HOUSTON (AP) — John W. Breen, the new Houston Oilers general manager, was the team's first employee.

Breen, the first man hired in 1960 by club owner K.S. "Bud" Adams Jr. as one of the organizers of the American Football League, was named to the position Wednesday.

"He has had experience in every phase of pro football," said John Collins, the Oilers' executive vice president, in announcing Breen's appointment.

With Breen as director of personnel, the Oilers won the first two AFL championships and lost the third in the historic six-quarter 1962 title game to the Dallas Texans, now the Kansas City Chiefs.

After serving as personnel director, Breen was vice president and director of public relations before being placed in charge of the club's speakers bureau earlier this year. In that capacity he also was to have assisted in scouting.

The Oilers began a reorganization with the Jan. 21 selection of Ed Hughes, a San Francisco 49er assistant, as head coach to replace Wally Lemm, who resigned.

Bob Brodhead, chief financial officer of the Cleveland Browns, was named general manager Feb. 13 but resigned abruptly April 1 to return to Cleveland. He said a personal situation had made it impossible to move his family to Houston.

Dr. Dick Drago as Cleveland went down to its 16th defeat in the last 21 games.

Eye Is on Schroeder at Dallas

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
DALLAS (AP) — Just as he was a year ago, John Schroeder was the forgotten man today in the first round of the $125,000 Byron Nelson Golf Classic.

Schroeder, then an obscure tour rookie, gained national attention in this tournament last year when he was paired with Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus in the 36-hole, nationally televised final round of this event.

And, playing with the two giants of the game for the first time, Schroeder outscored them both and missed by a single stroke of going into the sudden death playoff in which Nicklaus beat Palmer on the first extra hole.

Since then the son of former tennis star Ted Schroeder has come into his own.

His performance over the year last season gained him exempt status, eliminated him from the chore of Monday qualifying.

He has had some problems this season, however, with a tie for 10th in the National Airlines Open this best finish. He has won just less than $10,000.

Palmer and Nicklaus ranked as the co-favorites for the $25,000 first prize. Other standouts included Lee Trevino, Miller Barber, Masters champion Charles Coody and Frank Beard, winner of last week's New Orleans Open.

Merger Body to Report on NBA and ABA

NEW YORK (AP) — Merger committees for the rival National and American basketball associations were expected to bring the leagues closer to a union today when they report to the owners.

For the second time in two weeks, the owners of each league will meet separately at different mid-town hotels to hear the report of their merger committees.

While the ABA already has made it clear it wants a merger, the NBA has been unable to get the required 13 votes of its 17 members. The next step thus rests with the NBA.

While no vote was scheduled today, the possibility still exists should the merger committee come up with the report. The ABA then would need approval again of eight of its 11 owners.

The committees have been negotiating for some three weeks during this latest attempt to bring the leagues together and end the astronomical bidding war for college players and the raiding of players.

Bad Paint Job Delays Car for Unser

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Al Unser, hottest driver in the United States Auto Club the last two seasons, has been sitting on the pit wall of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway for five days, grounded by a mishap that shouldn't happen at your corner garage.

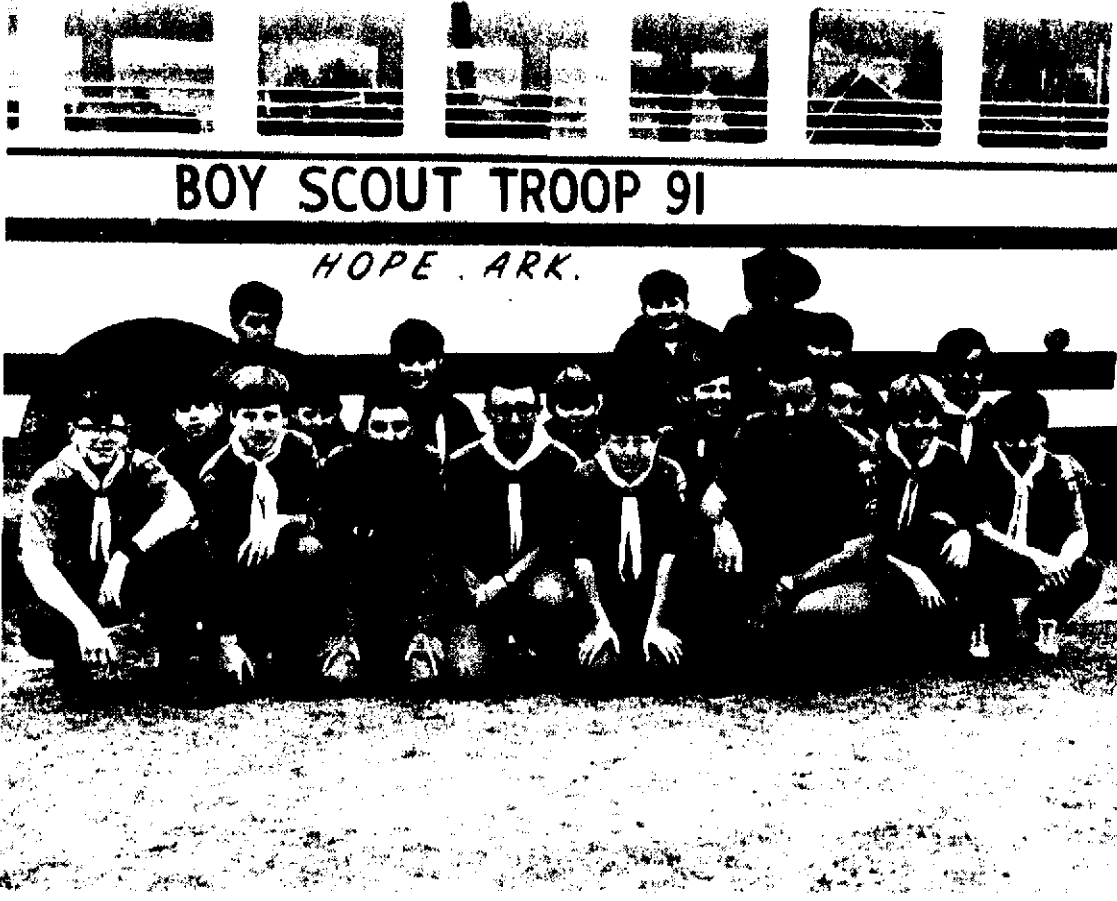

The defending USAC champion and 1970 Speedway 500-mile race winner hasn't been able to drive his new Colt Ford because of a bad paint job.

Parnelli Jones, co-owner of the car and himself a former 500 winner, explained that the undercoating wasn't dry when the painter started brushing on layers of the team's distinctive blue and gold. They came right off.

The car was expected to race the track today.

Al was asked Wednesday in the delay wasn't getting on his nerves, especially while Mark Donohue was making fantastically fast practice run in a

Off-Track Betting Plan Successful

NEW YORK (AP) — Howie the Horse has opened a big lead down the backstretch and it appears he will be a galloping, eased-up winner.

That is how Howard Samuels, president of the New York City Off-Track Betting Corporation, might describe the actions of the OTB since it opened for business April 8, months behind schedule.

Even the illegal bookies, whom Samuels hopes eventually to put out of business, "didn't think too much of our chances," said Samuels who has referred to himself many times as "Howie the Horse."

Despite problems involving computers, unions and a lack of betting places the OTB had demonstrated in its first month that there is a vast untapped market for off-track wagering.

The OTB was set up in an effort to provide revenue for New York City and avoid increased taxes. It has attracted national attention. "Two weeks before we opened," said Samuels, "we were having trouble obtaining loans from banks. But the entire picture has changed. The banks are calling us now and asking, 'How much can we lend you and when?'"

OTB's nightly handle on harness racing at Roosevelt Raceway so far has averaged $116,466—and it handled a highly satisfying $1,030,432 for last Saturday's Kentucky Derby. It will also take bets on the Pre-akness May 15 and is hoping to handle $2 million on that race.

"Our break-even point is a daily handle of between $200,000 and $250,000," said Samuels, "and we shouldn't have any trouble doing that kind of business once we get more betting parlors opened."

But disputes with unions has kept the OTB from handling off-track betting on the thoroughbred racing at Aqueduct and on the trots at Yonkers Raceway where the OTB originally was supposed to open.

Utah Tops Kentucky in 2nd Game

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Zelmo Beaty scored 40 points and snared 15 rebounds, but Utah coach Bill Sharman says Willie Wise was the key to the 138-125 victory Wednesday night that gave the Stars a 2-0 lead over Kentucky in the American Basketball Association championship playoffs.

"Beaty did a great job," Sharman said following the game. "But Wise was outstanding."

The Utah coach described Wise's 26 points and 24 rebounds as "just too much to expect."

Beaty's 40-point performance was matched by Kentucky center Dan Issel. Darel Carrier and Walt Simon added 25 each for the colonels.

The best-of-seven series now moves to Louisville for games Friday and Saturday, the latter contest to be nationally televised.

Utah breezed to a 37-28 first period lead before Simon and Issel combined to give the Colonels their first lead of the night, 42-40, with four minutes gone in the second quarter. Things remained pretty even

The official statistics, however, indicated that Kentucky committee only 13 turnovers to 19 for Utah.

Senses No Trouble With Jury

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — "I didn't get the impression that the grand jury thinks the NFL is doing anything illegal," George S. Halas Sr. told newsmen after testifying Wednesday before a federal grand jury investigating possible antitrust violations in the National Football League.

Halas, 76, the owner and founder of the Chicago Bears, was one of two witnesses the jury brought to Cleveland as it concluded its hearings for this month. The other was Bert Rose, 51, who served four teams and the commissioner's office in 16 years of association with the NFL.

The jury is expected to resume hearings in June before recessing for the months of July and August.

"I enjoyed it," said Halas. "I found the jurors kind, generous and friendly. I gave them a lot of information and a few laughs."

Halas said the first question he was asked "was about the evolution of pro football."

However, he refused to discuss the particulars of his testimony on the advice of his attorney.

"There is no question everything connected with the National Football League is legal," said Halas. "My life and soul are tied up in this league and I want everybody to be on the level."

Referring to players who have registered claims of blackballing against league owners, Halas said those players "take all that's good from it and then denigrate pro football. It's unfair."

Protesters Turn Toward Viet Embassy

By LEE BYRD
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Already taxed by 12,000 arrests this week, antiwar protesters today turned toward the South Vietnamese Embassy and the city jail in their last effort before leaving the capital's troop-guarded streets in "tactical retreat."

Today's plans, formulated by Mayday and the Southern Christian Leadership Conference called for a rally in front of the South Vietnamese embassy, and then a 30-block symbolic march to the city's main jail. The first event may have made the second unnecessary. It is unlawful to demonstrate near an embassy, and organizers had no permit for the march.

Some 1,160 of the protesters were jailed in a peaceful out-militant rally which closed the Capitol Wednesday afternoon and sparked renewed public debate over tactics employed by

Judge Won't Quash Jury Proceedings

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Special Circuit Court Judge C. R. George of Danville refused Wednesday to quash a Pope County Grand Jury that had been called to hear evidence about alleged illegal fees received by Circuit Court Judge Russell C. Roberts of Conway.

Prosecutor Alex G. Streett of Russellville had subpoenaed the 16-member jury and several lawyers in the 5th Judicial Circuit in an attempt to show that George was improperly chosen and the grand jury did not represent a cross-section of the county's residents.

George also denied a motion by Streett that he disqualify himself as the special judge.

George was named by lawyers of the circuit to empanel the grand jury. Streett claimed that George's election was invalid on grounds that no provision of the state Constitution provides for the selection of a special judge by members of the bar for the purpose of empaneling a grand jury.

Several members of the grand jury expressed displeasure at tactics used by Streett. They said Streett interrogated them closely behind closed doors in an attempt to learn their views toward the investigation of Roberts.

Two jury members said they fired attorneys before they would answer Streett's questions.

Streett said he would appeal George's decisions to the Supreme Court.

Earlier Wednesday, the high court prohibited George from sitting as a special judge in the case of a Pope County man who is charged with first-degree murder.

The court acted after a brief hearing on a petition by Streett asking for the order prohibiting George from sitting at the arraignment of Oliver Simpson, 58, of Russellville.

Simpson's arraignment had been scheduled for Wednesday afternoon.

Streett, who claimed George did not have the authority to preside, also asked that the court order Roberts, the regular judge, to "hear and preside over regular criminal proceedings of his circuit."

The Supreme Court order said George was prohibited "until further order of this court" from conducting any proceedings in the litigation against Simpson.

Streett told reporters that Roberts had informed him Tuesday that George also would preside at the arraignment of Simpson, who is charged with the shotgun slaying of Charles Gardner, 34, a Russellville lawyer.

In his petition, Streett said Roberts had "abused his discretion in directing that George preside at the arraignment."

The prosecutor told the Supreme Court that George was asked a special judge for the purpose only of presiding over the grand jury proceedings. He asked in his petition that George had no jurisdiction to conduct regular criminal proceedings and that his "jurisdiction authority, if any, are limited to proceedings of the police. A congressman was among those claiming to have been roughed up by officers.

Other disturbances, resulting in about 50 arrests, were waged late Wednesday by dissident groups which flooded off the campuses of American University and the University of Maryland to block homebound traffic on two key roadways.

For many of the protesters, a trip to jail has been the honor badge of commitment. Most who marched to the doorstep of Congress in Wednesday's demonstration had voted beforehand to accept arrest, and the mood, at that, was frequently festive with songs and dances interspersing the oratory.

But others, including a few sympathetic congressmen who spoke to the group before the order to disperse, were not so satisfied. Rep. Charles Rangel, D-N.Y., said the Capitol Chief of Police James Powell's muffled demand to clear the area may as well have been made "in the men's room" since few heard it.

The arrests were at least delayed until Reps. Bella Abzug, D-N.Y., Ronald Dellums, D-Calif., and Parren Mitchell, D-Md., had finished their speeches. They later tried to intercede in behalf of the demonstrators, but were ignored.

Although some 3,000 persons participated in the Capitol demonstration and some 5,000 were involved in the nearby Maryland activity, it appeared that the protest forces were steadily diminishing from their strength of perhaps 20,000 earlier in the week.

The Wednesday flare-up resulted in new controversy about troop tactics.

Dellums said one policeman struck him in the ribs with a nightstick when he attempted to protest the arrests. "They didn't give a damn about the fact I am a congressman. I am a nigger, and that's the way a lot of these people are being treated," he said.

Sen. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., said one policeman tried to bar him from crossing the Capitol parking lot and a scuffle ensued. "This is outrageous," he declared. "They're supposed to be protecting us, and they don't even let us through."

Some 1,160 of the protesters were jailed in a peaceful out-militant rally which closed the Capitol Wednesday afternoon and sparked renewed public debate over tactics employed by

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Maybe it was the long television winter of exposure to dramas and actuality programs showing youth in trouble and youth in revolt, but the finals of "America's Junior Miss" pageant Wednesday night were welcome as the first daffodils.

Some of the senior pageants, including Miss America, could benefit by taking a close look at the way the "America's Junior Miss" program was handled.

The NBC tour—and that is just about long enough—presented the contestants from the 50 states—pretty, fresh-faced high school seniors who looked eager, healthy and their age in spit of an occasional overdose of eye shadow or pancake.

The program, live from Mobile, Ala., opened with a little soft-shoe routine by the ensemble. With casual but sure-footed guidance by host Ed McMahon, it moved directly to the prepacked 10 semifinalists.

The question-and-answer session, for the first time in recorded pageant history, was sensible. The girls were asked how they felt about demonstrations, organized religion, women's lib, pollution, war, crime trials and capital punishment. What is more, most of the answers were well-considered and mature.

The demonstrations of talent by the five finalists were cut to a few minutes each. The girls were pretty good. One played the organ, another performed an original composition on the flute. The pageant winner, Miss New Jersey, Arlene Stens, danced a short solo.

A little feedback came from the public address system at the outset and the new America's Junior Miss' crown was too big and kept slipping over her ears at the moment of victory, but the whole hour had a nice spontaneous quality hitherto missing from these rituals.

"The Odd Couple," renewed for a second season by ABC, has won a smashing victory over that old nuisance, the laugh track. The series started with the usual ghostly guffaws, but the canned laughs later were abandoned, presumably at the urging of the stars. Tony Randall and Jack Klugman.

Further information regarding the training program to be conducted will be released when the starting date for the training is established.

Home Sewing Can Prove Profitable

MCGHEE, ARK.—Sewing can be profitable in prize money as well as paying dividends in personal appearance.

Frances Fairchild, Extension home economist, said Mrs. Claude Beedle of Arkansas City entered the Desha County Cotton Dress Contest last summer. She placed second in play clothes and third in church dress.

She made $40 from the county contest and entered the two garments in the clothing division of the Desha County Fair, where she received $12 in prize money.

The first place winner in the Play Clothes Division of the County Cotton Dress Contest did not enter the State Contest so Mrs. Beedle, as second place winner, entered. She placed third and was awarded $15.

Mrs. Beedle has won a total of $48 in prize money from the play clothes outfit that she entered in the three events. The material in the cotton sail cloth outfit cost $8, a profit of $40.

Roommates in Junior Miss Pageant Run 1-2 in Judging Process

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Two pageant roommates have finished one-two in the 14th annual America's Junior Miss Pageant. The winner, Arlene Stens of Woodlynne, N.J., said afterward that she wanted her roommate to win.

The first-runner-up in the Wednesday night finals was Kathy Clark Morris of Forest, Miss., who had shared a hotel room with Miss Stens since April 24, when pageant preliminaries began.

Miss Stens told a news conference that she did not think she would be among the finalists, much less the winner. "I wanted my roommate to get it," she said, dabbing at her tear-streaked makeup.

America's new ideal high school senior girl is one of six children of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Stens. She said she wanted to finish her education and then teach deaf and dumb children.

Miss Stens, 18, has light brown hair and hazel eyes and is 5-foot-7. During the preliminaries, she won a poise and appearance award, bringing her total winnings to $11,000 worth of college scholarships.

A total of $38,000 was at stake in the pageant.

Other runners-up, in order, were Janet Lee Miller of Greeley, Colo.; Carol Anne Tate of Monticello, Ky., and Julie Ann Berg of Klamath Falls, Ore.

The rest of the top 10 girls picked during the nationally televised finals were Diana Lee Casey, Tempe, Ariz.; Kathy Lynn White, North Little Rock, Ark.; Carolyn Sue Whitted, College Park, Ga.; Marilyn Sue Penney, Soddy, Tenn., and Nancy Elaine Goeres, Lodi, Wis.

Earlier, the 50 contestants chose Hawaii's Junior Miss, Nalani Ann Akana of Wailuku, Maui, as Miss Personality.

Nevada's Junior Miss, Jean Marie Bokelmann of Las Vegas, was given the pageant's top award for scholastic achievement.

Miss White was the only double-winner in preliminary judging. The Arkansas lass took the top spot in youth fitness Sunday and won the talent presentation Monday night.

Miss Stens succeeds Karen Stenwall of Phoenix, Ariz.

The winner received a $10,000 scholarship to the college of her choice. The first runner-up received a $6,000 scholarship, the second $4,000 and third and fourth $2,500 each. The other five finalists were given $500 scholarships. Preliminary winners were awarded $1,000 each.

The student ducked the first heart, but had to win the second. It was necessary to develop his clubs so he led a club toward dummy at trick three. West played the seven and dummy's king was put up. The professor who sat East dropped the jack. When the student led a second club from dummy West was able to win the trick with the 10 and lead a third heart to clear the suit while he still held the ace of clubs.

The student looked admiringly at the professor. "I would have made the hand against almost anyone else. What a brilliant play!" "Not at all," replied the professor. "The play of the jack of clubs was routine. It wasn't going to be worth anything if left in my hand and might actually keep my partner from the extra entry he would need to establish his hearts. On the other hand, you had a cinch for your contract if you had played correctly."

Do you see where the student made his mistake? At trick three he could have spoiled the professor's fun if he just played a low club from dummy.

East would have to win the trick and could make no better return than a diamond. It would be up to the student to rise with the ace and clear his club suit. The defense would collect one heart, one diamond and two clubs, but the student would collect the nine tricks he needed for his contract.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Blood in Stools May Be Serious

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—My 15-year-old son bleeds every-time he has a bowel movement. He has been doing this for about two months. An examination didn't show any tumors or anything — not even an internal hemorrhoid, yet he passes about a tablespoon of blood each time he has a bowel movement. The blood is bright red, therefore our doctor doesn't think it could be higher up. What else, other than tumors or hemorrhoids, could be causing this?

Dear Reader — Hemorrhoids, are the most common cause for bright red blood with a bowel movement. Tumors or cancer can be the cause, but the examination that you described has probably eliminated this possibility. Inflammation of the colon, or colitis, may cause the large bowel to weep blood into the stool and blood may be noted in the bowel movement. The change in the lining of the bowel should reveal this problem unless the area of inflammation is beyond the reach of the proctoscope used for such examinations. If the right side of the colon is involved it might not show.

Usually, bleeding in the small intestine or stomach produces blacklike bowel movements because the blood is partially digested. There are exceptions to this. People who bleed quite a bit and have an overactive bowel may even pass fresh blood with bowel movements from a peptic ulcer just outside the stomach. This is fairly uncommon though and is usually associated with other symptoms.

You have done the right thing in going to see a doctor. Unless the cause is known, anybody who has blood in his bowel movements should go see a doctor for a complete examination at once.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I am 72 and have had wonderful health all my life until this last year. Recently I have been having son-in-law trouble and my blood pressure has gone up. My doctor wants me to take high-blood pressure pills and water pills which I hate to take. Is there any diet for people like me?

Dear Reader—Since your doctor is familiar with your case, you should continue to take any medicine he has given you until he advises you otherwise.

One of the most important diet considerations for people with high blood pressure is to lose any excess fats they may have. Even the loss of 10 pounds of unnecessary fat often makes a great deal of difference in blood pressure. The second general principle is to markedly decrease any salt intake in the diet. Some doctors feel that giving pills to eliminate water and salt makes it unnecessary to be as conscientious about elimination of salt in the diet. If you are one of those people though who can tolerate the major salt restriction in the diet, there may be less need to take pills for this purpose.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

SECURITY IN NUMBERS? WAIT TILL HE GETS HOME!

Dear Helen:

I met a girl in my modeling class who had on a ring just like mine. I thought mine was unique as my boy friend in the Army said he'd had an old man carve it—and it meant undying love. It turned out HER boy friend also sent her this ring and from the same place. So we checked names. You guessed it. Same guy!

I wrote and asked him how many other rings he'd distributed, and he was honest. He said fellows overseas are very lonely, so to keep girls writing they say some pretty affectionate things. And besides, you feel like you're "in love" with all of them, being so far away and never knowing when you may get killed.

Then he said I was Number 1, but he was writing to four other girls, and he doesn't expect any of us to stay home and wait, but he hopes I'll be the one who's waiting at the airport for him when he gets home.

Should I believe him; show his letter to the other girl so she'll butt out; ask him to give me the names of all four so we can start a fan club, or date other guys?—ONE FIFTH OF A GIRL FRIEND

Dear One Fifth:

"No" to the first three questions, "Yes" to the fourth. —H.

P.S. But keep writing to him! I sure feel for that girl who said if you're honest with parents—it's your neck.

My father is a third degree man. He thinks he is being tactful, but he's pretty obvious when he starts out talking football to my boy friends and ends up asking them if they've ever had a ticket for speeding, and have they smoked marijuana?

Well, when a guy is up against this kind of thing, smart ones know there's only one safe way to go: Lie! Not that I'd date a real wild guy but, after all, they're human. However, Bud, the fellow I like best, is Honest (capital H.) He said, "Sure, Mr. B, I've tried pot, and I took some uppers once to get me through finals, but I didn't like them. . ."

Whammo! I am not allowed to date this great guy. My dad considers anyone a dope fiend if he's even smelled the stuff. Bud doesn't smoke but, like almost every other student, he's tried pot.

Parents are always feeling sorry for themselves because their children don't tell them the truth. How can you confide in someone who uses your words against you? —D.B.

Dear D.: Good Question. And one many parents should heed!

Early on, children learn to avoid trouble at home by telling uptight adults only what they want to hear.

It's a wise parent who listens without condemnation. He may hear more than he really wants to know, but that knowledge shouldn't frighten him, if communication leads to mutual trust and respect.

P.S.: NOTE FOR MR. B.: Bud leveled with you and that's a big compliment. If you can't tell the difference between a "dope fiend" and a reformed experimenter, you'd better invite him back for some more "honesty" sessions. You need them! —H.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

During the Spanish-American War of 1898 the U.S. battleship Oregon made one of the most remarkable voyages ever made by a steamship. The World Almanac says that the Oregon completed a 16,000-mile voyage from San Francisco via Cape Horn, and arrived in Santiago, Cuba, where it served in a decisive naval battle. This trip dramatized the need to build the Panama Canal.

OUT IN FRONT. or at least off to an early start, in this year's international beauty competitions is Marilyn Ward, 21, winner of the 1971 Miss England title and a contestant in coming Miss Europe and Miss Universe contests.

Exchange People Spies Russians Say

MOSCOW (AP) — A major Soviet newspaper today accused the U.S. Embassy's cultural section of spying on the Soviet Union and of involving American participants in exchange programs in espionage. Literaturnaya Gazeta, the Literary Gazette, accused McKinney H. Russell, counselor for cultural affairs at the embassy, of trying to recruit Soviet citizens to spy for the United States. The paper is the organ of the Soviet Writers Union.

The embassy said the charges were "unfounded" and that Russell's contacts with Soviet citizens "have been normal and proper in every respect."

Russell, assigned to Moscow in June 1968, is responsible for implementing cultural exchanges between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Russell is scheduled to be transferred to Bonn early this summer to head the U.S. Information Office there.

The Literary Gazette article, signed by Andrei Grachyov and Yuri Bobrov, said exchange students and professors from American universities became acquainted with a young Soviet physicist named Viktorov and introduced him to Russell.

It said Russell proposed to Viktorov that he spy for the United States by turning over to the embassy information on the locations of key Soviet factories and personal data on Soviet scientists, including their political views.

Joyous Singers of Hope M.E. Attend Church Choir Festival

The Joyous Singers of First United Methodist Church, Hope, attended the third annual Children's Choir Festival in Little Rock, May 1-2, at St. Paul's Methodist Church.

They had their practice session at 9:30 a.m. Saturday and presented their program at 3:30 p.m. Sunday.

Eugene Kuyper, professor of voice at Henderson State College was the guest director. He also held a director's workshop the preceding Friday night which Mrs. Don Johnson, director of this group, attended.

The Hope singers joined other

Methodist churches in the conference to form a combined choir of about 350 children, each group already having memorized the numbers they were to perform.

Local parents supported their group 100 percent and many other friends from Hope attended the program, including

Secretary of State and Mrs. Kelly Bryant.

By participating in this festival, the group is now eligible to attend Choir Camp, which 13 of them plan to do so June 9-11 at Camp Tanako, near Hot Springs. Mrs. A.L. Butler of Ada, Okla. will be guest director for this camp and next year's festival.

Ozark Workshop Planned at Arkansas College June 7-12

Unique means one of a kind. Only one. No more. Lightly used in too many instances, the word is properly applied to describe the course in Ozark folklore offered by Arkansas College, Batesville, June 7-12, at a cost of $35. For $40. more, students can have an air-conditioned room on campus from June 5 with all meals included, during the dates of the week-long session. For high school and college students wishing one semester hour of credit toward their degrees, the workshop is for all who wish to learn about the Ozark's cultural heritage.

Taught by an authority in the field, Dr. John Quincy Wolf began the first college credit course anywhere in this subject at Southern in Memphis where he is an English professor.

Classes will include three hour sessions each morning in Dr. Wolf's home, 845 E. Boswell Street and the Audio-Visual Room at Arkansas College's Library. There will be field trips to watch demonstrations by local folk artists, a performance at Hardy's Arkansas Traveller Theatre and Jimmy Driftwood is arranging a field trip to Mountain View near his home in Timbo. Driftwood is the organizer of the Rackensack Folklore Society, the Arkansas Folk Festival and the Chairman of the Department Parks and Tourism. Also included in the packed curriculum will be lectures on music and crafts, customs and traditions, as well as superstitions and language.

Arkansas College Campus has a gym, swimming pool, tennis and handball courts for use by students during their free time. Too, the Batesville area offers fishing, camping and water sports. However, if interested or studious, a room will be available for those wishing to read or listen to tapes or records.

Johnny Tuttle, 72, farmed in lower Stone County all his life. Retiring in 1963, he left his home close to the White River. Now he lives near Epes Mabry's Craft Shop in Mountain View. Just as Mr. Tuttle is shown demonstrating the use of a fro to make red oak shake-palings, so in pioneer days the same method was used to make roof shingles (shakes) or siding for houses. The folklore class will see him when they are on one of their field trips to Mountain View.

According to Mrs. Beverly Walmsley of the College, several families are planning to attend the course as part of their vacation. Last year's workshop drew 42 students from ten states.

Long-Haired Caravan Back Here

MARIANNA, Ark. (AP) — The caravan of about 300 long-haired people that passed through Arkansas March 22 en route from California to Tennessee was back in the state Tuesday night.

State Police said a caravan of about 35 buses crossed the Mississippi River bridge between Memphis and West Memphis shortly before 10 p.m. The group traveled south on U.S. 79 and camped in a rest area north of Marianna.

TV Newsmen to Strike at Criticism

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Reuben Frank, president of NBC News, said today that television newsmen have had enough of apologizing to their critics and from now on will fight back.

"It is not that we have taken to shutting up, but to answering back," he said in a speech prepared for a "Broadcast Day" luncheon at the University of Missouri School of Journalism.

Among critics he mentioned Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, the Republican national chairman, Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas, and the Washington Post.

This, however, is really only a small segment and most criticism of television has come from "what we badly and inaccurately call the left," the National Broadcasting Co. executive said.

"I warn you again," Frank said, "we have been pushed and prodded, palpatated and probed like fish-market mackerel on a Friday morning and we have had enough."

Among other things, he said television newsmen were through "allowing fishing expeditions in their back files and

Adult Graduation At Clow

Advances in Cancer Fight Reported

The forces fighting to control cancer entered the 1970s "backed by substantial achievements but threatened by a lack of funds," declared Mrs. Vance Marcum of the American Cancer Society's April 1971 Crusade.

"It became clear," said Mrs. Marcum, "after the Society's Science Writers' Seminar and the 10th International Cancer Conference last year that a number of research developments are zeroing in on several types of cancer." And while expecting a "final breakthrough or solution is unrealistic" she declared that "our rising expectations in cancer research must not be hampered by lack of support."

In the search for the causes of cancer "much evidence points to the likelihood that some human cancers are caused by viruses," Mrs. Marcum said.

As an example of possible immediate progress in clinical medicine she cited the concentration of efforts to control cancer of the colon which results in over 35,000 deaths annually. "With the simple device of a proctoscope physicians can detect about 70 per cent of all incipient colon-rectum cancers," she pointed out. "This certainly indicates reasonable prospects for controlling these types of cancer."

"Patients treated for localized breast cancers now have an 85 per cent chance of survival," Mrs. Marcum said.

"Prospects are also good," she said, "that diagnostic tests for certain cancer will be perfected, and that the body's immune defense system can be enlisted in therapy against cancer."

"We want to wipe out cancer in your lifetime, but just as the cost of living rises," she said, "each year the cost of research jumps by more than eight per cent. That means we must raise at least that much more money just to keep projects going."

The Adult Basic Education Class in the Clow Community, under the supervision of the Blevins Public School, held their closing exercises April 26, 1971. Certificates and awards were given by Curtis Pharr, superintendent of Blevins Public Schools.

4 Fires Ravaging Everglades in Wake of Florida's Drouth

BIG CYPRESS SWAMP, Fla. (AP) — Four fires raging in this historic wilderness area threatened the tiny town of Copeland and a Seminole Indian reservation as two-thirds of the rain-starved Florida peninsula faced "explosive fire conditions."

Seminole tribesmen battled a 10,000-acre fire that had spread to the southern border of their Big Cypress reservation about 50 miles west of Fort Lauderdale.

State forestry crews attempted to contain two fires that hemmed in the old logging community of Copeland, a town of about 100 located 35 miles southeast of the reservation.

"The worst one right now is eight miles west of Copeland," district forester Kem Blacker said Wednesday. He said that fire covered 5,000 acres, while one 14 miles east of the town had expanded beyond 10,000 acres.

A team of a dozen state fire-fighters was forced to camp Wednesday night near a 10,000-acre blaze some 15 miles south of the fire at the edge of the reservation.

It took them all day Wednesday to fight their way through the swamp to reach the fire, said a division of forestry pilot, Connie Ryan. "There was no way to get them out."

Wallace Risher, forest manager for the Department of Interior, said the tribesmen have been fighting smaller fires for the past month-sometimes side-by-side with convict volunteers from the county jail. "We've already lost some 6,000 acres on the reservation," Risher said, "including some of our pine crop that runs from seedling, sapling up to saw timber size."

The Big Cypress Swamp has served the tribe as a refuge since the Seminole Wars when they were chased deep into the morass by Gen. Andrew Jackson.

The reservation presently has about 300 families, Risher said. Smaller fires were reported throughout the state from as far north as Ocala National Forest, about two thirds of the way up the Florida peninsula.

"You could say that much of the state is facing explosive conditions," said Van Murphy, Okeechobee District Forester. Since November Florida has been in the grip of the worst drought in its history.

Palmer, Pals to Invade Minnesota

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Professional Golfers Association is bypassing Minnesota on its tour this season, but that's not going to keep Arnold Palmer and some other well-known golfers out of the state.

Palmer will head a foursome of touring pros scheduled to play a round Aug. 11 at Delwood National, a new course near White Bear Lake.

Cambodia O.K's New Cabinet

PHNOM PENH (AP) — The Cambodian political crisis ended today after 16 days as the National Assembly overwhelmingly approved a revamped government. The vote was 50-1, with nine abstentions and five blank ballots.

The new 16-man Cabinet is headed by the leaders of the last government but sports a number of new and younger faces. It committed itself to winning the war against the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese, getting a constitution for the seven-month-old republic and continuing a foreign policy of "active neutrality."

The new government is headed in name by ailing Marshal Lon Nol but in fact by Lt. Gen. Sisowath Sirik Matak, who presented the Cabinet to the assembly because Lon Nol was unable to leave his home.

Western observers consider the new government "less political and more functional" than the group brought down April 20.

High School Studies Home Furnishing

Mrs. Joe Hankins of Home Furniture Company discusses features to look for in good drawer construction with Debbie Owens, Vivian Smith, and Joyce Hunter.

Mike Kelly, Director of the Housing Authority of Hope explains how the units in the Federal Housing Project were built to Randy Byers, Louise Kramer, Lois Ford, and Renee Quillin.

At Young America Homes Mike Rouse shows the class through the plant where they are building 14 foot wide mobile homes. Students are Sandra Stevenson, Debbie Owens, Elizabeth Joy and Joyce Hunter.

Hulon Morse, foreman for Lavender Construction Company explains a supporting beam to Lois Adney, Karen Wright, and Polly Lingo.

For most families the largest single expenditure will be for a home and furnishings. With this in mind the Family Living and Consumer Education classes at Hope High School set out to learn more about different types of housing and home furnishings. During the unit the students toured two sites where homes are being constructed by Lavender Construction Company to see how a house is built from the ground up. They also toured Young America Homes to see how mobile homes are built and looked at the living space available in the 12 and 14 foot wide model manufactured in Hope.

No study of housing would be complete without a look at the Federal Housing Project. Mike Kelly, Director of the Housing Authority, showed the classes through several units and explained how the Project was built and how it is operated. Of special interest to the group was Mr. Kelly's discussion of the Urban Renewal Project planned for Hope.

To learn more about home furnishings, the students made a field trip to Home Furniture Company. Here they examined and discussed furniture styles, construction techniques, upholstery fabrics and floor coverings. They also learned that some good quality furniture is made in Arkansas.

The group also toured the J. R. Bennett and Morris Harwell homes for a discussion of floor plans, floor coverings, wall coverings, use of decorative accessories, and landscaping. Mrs. Helen Clark is Family Living and Consumer Education instructor.

Short Course for Young Homemakers

A short course has been designed for "young homemakers" to help them save "time" and "money" with the Food Dollar! Four sessions will be held at night by the Agricultural Extension Service and Hope and Spring Hill High School Home Economics Instructors cooperating—May 10, 17, 20, 24 from 7:00-9:00 p.m. at the Douglas Building.

Join these homemakers in an interest to be better equipped with a better understanding of the maze of choices you face in current market. Learn some "whys" and "hows" to time-saving and "quality" dishes!

Interest is high-class limited to first 80 young homemakers enrolling—call 777-5771.

Graduate of Arkansas Tech Named to U.S. Conference on Youth

By STERLING LEVY
Russellville Courier-Democrat
RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP) Willie Cooper, about to finish a college career at Arkansas Tech filled with twirling and singing, feels his accomplishments have come through "the grace of God."

He combines his gift with years of practice and hard work. The Tech senior recently was selected by President Nixon as one of the 1,000 young people nationwide to attend the 1971 White House Conference of Youth.

He will serve on a conference committee studying the environment. The committee will present a prediction of how youth, in particular, will be affected if the United States does not "address itself" to the environmental problem.

Cooper is best known off-campus for his two seasons as a featured twirler with Arkansas Tech's "Band of Distinction" and his singing for area groups. He has delighted audiences with fancy baton routines and a melodic bass-baritone voice.

"Two of my cousins in Dallas, Tex., were high school twirlers," he recalled. "I became interested and just started twirling a stick in my fingers. I've never had lessons."

He soon added piano, singing and dancing to his interest and worked at them constantly.

Cooper started singing in church and "it developed from there."

Tall and lanky, Willie took a fling at school track and basketball a few years later.

"I participated, but I wasn't encouraged because I was concentrating on the twirling, piano, singing and dancing," he said.

He graduated from Malvern High School in 1967, receiving an Olivetti typing award during his senior year. He said his fingers must have helped here too, because he could type 80 words a minute.

Intent on majoring in Music at college, he sought a scholarship to Tech but did not get it. The scholarship went to another entering freshman "who needed it more than I," Cooper said. "I am not poor."

He entered Tech as a music

Drugs Real Problem for Women

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Women heroin addicts may save their babies from most of the physical agony of withdrawal by submitting to methadone treatment during pregnancy, a medical specialist reports.

Babies born to 22 women in a control group that took methadone avoided most of the severe withdrawal symptoms that affected infants of 21 women studied who did not receive the synthetic drug, Dr. James F. Connaughton Jr. said Monday.

Infants of untreated addict mothers suffered convulsions, protracted shrill crying, diarrhea, sleeplessness, regurgitation, hypertension, frantic fist-sucking and other symptoms, Connaughton told a six-day meeting of the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists.

Connaughton is a resident in obstetrics and gynecology at Philadelphia General Hospital, which last September opened a methadone clinic offering prenatal care as well as therapy to addicted patients.

"The comprehensive nature of the care has markedly diminished many of the serious complications of pregnancy," for the 22 treated women, Connaughton said.

Addicts not already being treated are admitted to the methadone maintenance program and receive about 10 milligrams of methadone each day for each bag of heroin previously used daily. A moderate habit requires about milligrams of methadone a day, he said.

Connaughton said published research shows a death rate of 50 of 93 per cent for infants of addict mothers.

Ten babies in the untreated group suffered severe withdrawal and all but two required withdrawal therapy for at least 10 days he said.

In the treated group, eight required no therapy and 14 suffered mild or moderate withdrawal.

Four infants in the treated group had severe symptoms, but their mothers were women with large habits who admitted to secret use of heroin within three days prior to delivery, he reported.

In the untreated group, most infants were of low birth weight, nine weighing less than 5½ pounds. Three of the 22 babies in the treated group were premature by weight.

major, but changed his mind during the fall semester. He decided to retain a high interest in musical activities, but to major in sociology, specializing in industrial relations.

Willie worked the following summer at a district sales office of an automobile manufacturer in Carrollton, Tex. He lived with relatives at Dallas and spent much time practicing twirling.

When he returned for his sophomore year at Tech, he was not accepted by the Fine Arts Department to twirl that year.

"Male twirlers are rare," he said. "When you do see them, they are exceptionally good."

So, he continued with his singing. He was first in the state in the sophomore division at a National Association of Teachers and Singers meeting in Little Rock in 1969.

Willie was accepted as a twirler for 1969-70 and began appearing at Tech home games and wherever the band played.

He and Denise Gilkey, a freshman from Enid, Okla., formed a twirling duet.

"Denise was taught by professionals. She gave me many tips, on routines and other points," he said.

Willie's twirling became known to area Tech fans immediately. He and Denise performed several routines, including those using flaming batons.

He is southwestern region representative for the Student Council on Pollution and Environment, a program of the Department of the Interior. He was named in 1969 after being nominated by Tech administrators.

The state Commission on Children and Youth recommended him to the President for participation in the White House conference, in view of his SCOPE position.

With an eye on his career, Willie applied to Ford Motor Co. for a starting position in industrial relations. He will receive a bachelor of arts degree in sociology, with a minor in psychology in May.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Profit on Your Home?

Every five years, assuming you are an Average American, you will give up one residence and move to another. If this involves selling your home, and if you make a profit, do you have to pay income tax on the amount of the gain?

Generally, no—provided that you buy another house within one year. The federal government will usually allow you a tax deferment, on the theory that the sale is not an ordinary business deal but a matter of personal necessity.

But in order to qualify for the tax deferment, you must fully meet the conditions that the law lays down. For example, your second house must be not only bought but actually occupied within the one-year limit.

In one case, a man moving to another city bought a house that needed remodeling. The work took considerable time, and his family was still living in a rented apartment by the time the year was up.

Nevertheless, he tried to get a tax deferment by arguing that at least his intentions were clear by the time of the deadline.

But a court turned him down. The judge said the law was based on what a person intended to do but on what he did.

In another case, a man failed to buy a second house within the year solely because of a sudden illness. Was this an acceptable excuse? Again, a court said no. The court said the law "is unambiguous and leaves no room for interpretation because of unfortunate circumstances," adding:

"We are powerless to rewrite the statute."

What if you decide to build a new house, instead of buying one already in existence? In that case, the law does give you an extra six months' leeway, so long as you have at least started construction within the 12-month period.

One would-be builder bought a lot, arranged a loan, and obtained a building permit—all within the year. But actual work on the house had not yet begun. Had he started "construction" in time to qualify for the tax deferment?

Yes. The Treasury decided that, with so many tangible steps already taken, it could not fairly turn him down.

Make Your Own Catsup

FORT SMITH, Ark. — Why not plan now for the catsup you'll need for your family? Mrs. Earl Steele, Bonanza, does that each spring. Mrs. Steele told Mrs. Melva Van Vlack, Extension home economist, that to assure an ample supply of catsup at less cost, she plans to grow plenty of tomatoes.

For her catsup, she chops and combines 1 gallon of ripe tomatoes (peeled), 2 medium sized onions, and 1 cup sweet red peppers. This combination of vegetables is simmered for 30 to 40 minutes, and then pressed through a sieve.

Her spices are tied in a bag and put in 2 cups of vinegar and simmered for 30 minutes. Spices consist of 1 teaspoon of celery seed, 3 sticks of cinnamon and 1 clove of garlic, chopped. While the spices and vinegar are simmering, Mrs. Steele boils the sieved tomatoes until they have cooked down to about half the amount started with. Then, she adds the spiced vinegar, three-fourths cups of sugar, and 1 tablespoon of salt to the mixture. She, then, allows the mixture to boil for about 10 minutes, or until thickened. The mixture is then poured into hot sterilized jars, sealed, and processed for 5 minutes in boiling water. The jars are then removed, cooled, and stored.

Intelligence Quotients
Genius as an intelligence quotient has been variously set at 140 or over, a level reached by about one in 250 persons, and at 189 or over, which is attained by no more than six persons in a million, according to Encyclopedia Britannica.
